G.O.P. Shies At Backing MacArthur

Wait and See Policy Proposed; Chicago Set for Convention

TULSA, Okla., May 11—(AP)—With Chicago all but finally chosen as the site of their 1952 presidential nominating convention, Republicans backed away today from any public endorsement of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Korean War policies.

The G.O.P. national committee still had to ratify a subcommittee's unanimous recommendation that party delegates meet in Chicago the week of July 21 to pick their candidate. Many Republicans think the Democratic candidate will be President Truman, seeking his second elective term.

Ratification of the subcommittee's recommendation was considered a formality, although Philadelphia adherents still were planning a contest.

In this last-minute battle, the Philadelphians were counting on an assertion that a vote for Chicago would be a vote to nominate Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee.

B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee national committeeman and a supporter of Taft, was picked to report the subcommittees recommendation to the national group.

Democrats To Wait

It would be the latest Republican convention in history. But Democrats were expected to wait, as they have except in 1856 and 1888, for the Republicans to do their picking first.

This year promised to be no exception, with the Democrats being forced into an August 20 convention start, if they choose Chicago to make the convention arrangements cost less. Some Philadelphia adherents remained confident they can woo the Democrats their way, despite their apparent loss of the G.O.P. convention.

While the nominating convention time and place was the principal business of the Republican National committee's meeting, the principal talk was about MacArthur and the political effect of his meteoric splash across America's front pages.

Almost without exception the Republicans who will have a large voice in naming the party's next presidential nominee adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward the deposed Pacific commander and his proposals for stepping up the war against Communist China.

For instance, Werner W. Schroeder, Illinois national committeeman, told reporters he thinks it would be wise to "wait until the heat's off" before the Republicans decide whether they should endorse MacArthur's program for a blockade of Red China, bombing of Manchurian bases and use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa.

"The Republican party should not hitch itself to the MacArthur program at this time," Schroeder said.

Considered Significant

Since Illinois is regarded as one of Taft's possible strongholds, this statement by Schroeder was considered significant.

Sinclair Weeks, Massachusetts national committeeman and one of the party's principal fund raisers, had the same sort of advice. Weeks is not regarded as primarily a Taft supporter, although he is friendly to the Ohio senator.

Kansas supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the G.O.P. nomination said they hope the argument over MacArthur's policies will not bring Eisenhower home to enter an active dispute with his five-star colleague.

Rule Child Dies Of Starvation

Special to The Star

BELLEFONTAINE, O., May 10—Two-month-old Harry J. Sargent Jr. died of starvation and exhaustion in his bed Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Beatl Coverstone, his maternal grandmother, Logan County Coroner A. J. McCracken ruled yesterday.

He was the youngest of four children of Mrs. Margie Bowers Sargent, Mrs. Coverstone's daughter by a former marriage. Mrs. Sargent brought the family to Bellefontaine Monday after her husband, Harry J. Sargent abandoned her at Ridgeway, Hardin County, several weeks ago.

Neglect charges were filed by Mrs. Sargent against her missing husband Tuesday and a statewide search for him is on.

The coroner was called after the child's mother had gone to the upstairs bedroom to feed the baby Wednesday afternoon but was unable to arouse him.

Both Houses Speed Bill To Truman

Congress Hustles To OK Benefits For Korea Vets

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Veterans of the undeclared Korean war will be eligible for the same medical benefits as survivors of other wars if President Truman approves.

It is virtually certain he will. He asked Congress for such legislation yesterday, even while Congress was considering it.

Reports reached here of a 21-year-old discharged Korean veteran who was denied admittance to a veterans hospital because his fighting was not in a declared war. Hospital officials said there was no law to cover his case.

There should be such a law, President Truman said at his weekly press conference. He followed through with letters to the House and Senate presiding officers.

And by nightfall, both houses had acted to extend war coverage to Korean veterans.

Privileges Granted

The bill, as it reached Mr. Truman's desk, entitles Korean veterans to these World War II privileges:

1. Medical, hospital and domiciliary benefits; 2. Burial benefits; 3. Compensation and pensions for the veteran and his dependents.

This swift sequence was touched off by ex-Marine David R. Arellano. He went to a Veterans Administration hospital at Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday.

The preliminary diagnosis was cancer but the hospital said that under the law it could not admit Arellano because his illness was not service-connected and he was not a veteran of a declared war.

Dewey Urges Full Embargo On Red China

11-Point Program Offered To Counter Soviet Aggression

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey urged last night a complete embargo by all free nations against Communist China. He proposed an 11-point program to meet the threat of Russian aggression.

Dewey, speaking at the annual dinner of the New York State Republican committee, said:

"I do not mean an embargo just of rubber or steel or military equipment. I mean an absolute and total embargo against shipment of any goods or any trading whatsoever with Red China."

The New York governor told more than 2,600 $100-a-plate diners that "while the pace will change from time to time, this war will continue the rest of our lives or so long as Communism rules Russia."

Terming the Truman administration's Far East policy "weak-kneed and wobbling," Dewey added:

"I suggest that now is the time for the force of public opinion to compel our government to formulate a policy for the whole Far East—a policy that will stop the spread of communism and start turning it back."

"It (the administration) can still redeem part of its failures by adopting policies in Asia and elsewhere which our people and our Allies will understand and support."

Dewey, who twice was Republican candidate for President, also demanded that China under Communist rule be barred forever from the United Nations.

Concerning the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far Eastern commands, Dewey said: "I do not challenge the power or the right of the President under the Constitution to relieve a military commander. I do challenge the wisdom of the dismissal and the shabby manner in which it was done."

Metz Lawyers File Appeals To Commission

Ask Reinstatement As Head Of Children's Home

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Mac D. Metz today filed separate appeals with the State Civil Service Commission at Columbus asking their reinstatement as superintendent and matron of the Marion County Children's Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz were automatically discharged a week ago today from the posts they had held at the childrens' home for 12 years when the Marion County Child Welfare Board filed charges against them of alleged incompetency, insubordination, neglect of duty, malfeasance and other alleged failures of good behavior.

The couple answered the charges with a flat denial.

They had been suspended from their jobs April 5 for alleged insubordination on their failure to attend a public meeting of the board when ordered to do so.

In the appeals filed today by Attorney Robert A. Kelly, who with Attorney Russell M. Wilhelm is representing the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Metz state the Child Welfare Board ordered their discharge and that they are appealing for reinstatement and they ask the Civil Service Commission to set a date for a hearing on the matter within 30 days of the receipt of the appeals.

Both appeals were filed by Attorney Kelly before noon today at the commission's offices in Columbus. Each was filed as a separate appeal but because the subject matter involved in both is similar, it is believed quite probable the commission might hear both at the same time.

The public hearing by the commission will be held in the Common Pleas Courtroom at the courthouse.

HAIL HITS WYANDOT CO.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., May 11—(AP)—Hail swept a swath through Wyandot County today. The ice pellets stripped tree foliage and damaged crops in an hour-long combination of thunderstorm and hail. The rain measured 1.36 inches. Hail stones were strewn over a two-mile wide strip and still were visible after two hours.

Dawson And Fulbright In RFC Clash

Denials of Influence Are Challenged By Probing Senator

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) told White House aide Donald S. Dawson today his denials of using political influence on government loans are "a little beyond my belief."

Fulbright and the President's patronage adviser debated at length the propriety of Dawson's conduct. Dawson insisted firmly "I did nothing improper" and Fulbright contended that he did, though possibly not consciously.

Their clash came at a hearing before a Senate banking subcommittee which contends Dawson was a member of a clique which influenced affairs of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), huge government lending agency.

"You over-emphasize my importance," Dawson said.

"You are a very modest man," Fulbright retorted with heavy sarcasm. He insisted that in the eyes of RFC directors whom the subcommittee contends were subservient to Dawson, "you had the power of life and death in the economic sense."

It was Dawson's second day in the witness chair.

At one point, Fulbright re-

Panama Has New President

PANAMA, PANAMA, May 11—(AP)—Panama's police army and public opinion gave the country a new president last night after four days of riots and revolution in which at least 12 persons were killed and hundreds were wounded.

In a three-hour battle inside and around the handsome little presidential palace, the National Police—the country's only armed force—hauled deposed President Arnulfo Arias off to jail. Nine persons died in the fighting and 80 or more were wounded.

Reds Poised To Attack; Allies Dig In

Buildup Indicating Two-Pronged Drive; Seoul Seen Target

TOKYO, May 11 — (AP) — United Nations troops shoved ahead three miles on the east Korean front today. In the west they dug in to meet an expected Red offensive.

South Koreans made the eastern advance north of Parallel 38. They met only light opposition. One infantry company marched into Inje without firing a shot.

Elsewhere the front was quiet except for restless, probing patrols. But there was continual movement back of Communist lines.

The Reds were building up four sizeable pockets for a possible two pronged drive on Seoul. They appeared to be massing in an arc north and northeast of the old South Korean capital.

Allied outposts got set to meet an assault. They sandbagged their positions, built booby traps and strung barbed wire.

On the other side of the narrowing no-man's land, Reds were moving up behind tank traps and minefields. Automatic weapon fire turned back small Allied patrols probing too close to suspected Red strength.

Situation Along Front

North Koreans slipping through the hills were concentrating about 20 miles north of Seoul between Munsan and Uijongbu. Communist fire forced back a South Korean patrol on the extreme west. Opposing patrols clashed north of Uijongbu where Reds planted fused mortar shells in mine fields. Artillery cut up a Red patrol southeast of Uijongbu.

Chinese turned back small U. N. patrols probing the newest suspected Red buildup 15 miles northeast of Seoul. Tank traps, guarded by automatic weapons, blocked the approach to wooded hills.

Other Chinese moved down in-

Senate Gets Tough on Aid To Red China

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The Senate has demanded that U. S. economic aid be withdrawn from any nation which permits shipment of any arms or other military material to Russia or its Communist allies.

This provision was written unanimously into a $431,127,477 supplemental appropriations bill passed by the Senate late yesterday.

The same ban was not included in the measure when it passed the House earlier. However, the Senate ordered its conferees not to yield an inch on the provision in their compromise sessions with the House conferees.

War Risk In Far East Far Greater, Marshall Declares

GENERAL'S FAMILY ARRIVES. Mrs. Matthew Ridgway and two-year-old son, Matthew Jr., are shown as they were greeted by General Ridgway at Haneda Airport in Tokyo, Japan, on their arrival from Washington. "This is the happiest day of my life," Mrs. Ridgway commented.

Sino-Soviet Relations At Stake

Fears Move Against Red China Would Draw Russia In

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Secretary Marshall said today the risk of war with Russia in the Far East is "more acute by far" than the hazard of Soviet aggression in Western Europe.

The defense secretary expressed his views regarding the comparative risks in response to questions by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) at Senate hearings on the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern commander.

Hickenlooper said he wondered why "we would accept a calculated risk" of provoking Russia to war in Europe, and why on the other hand "we refuse to accept a similar calculated risk" in the Far East.

Hickenlooper alluded to the Korean war program advocated by MacArthur and rejected by the administration. It calls for bombing Red China's supply bases in Manchuria, a naval and economic blockade of Red China, and removal of restrictions on operations of the Chinese Nationalist troops based on Formosa.

In reply of Hickenlooper, Marshall said "it was felt we had no choice on Western Europe but to proceed as we did, unless we allowed that region to go by default to Communist domination."

He said the situation is not comparable in Korea, "where we are in action and the question is whether we can extend that action without developing an enlarged war on the Chinese side, or a full war because of the reactions of the Soviet Union."

Principal Difference

Marshall said:

"The principal difference that I see in the matter is that we have an issue there (Far East) that is very critical to the Soviet Union in that they now are in complete accord with the Chinese Communist government so far as we know, and they have a treaty of accord.

"That is being imperiled. I would assume, and my associates have assumed, by what is happening to the Communist forces in Korea.

"Therefore, the situation as to the possible actions of the Soviet government is a more acute one by far than that in Western Europe because if they lose a close community of interests and cooperative arrangement with China at this time, that would be a very great loss to them of something they now possess.

"Here is a situation where the Chinese can be brought to feel, by continued highly destructive losses, that the Soviets have let them down. Therefore, the situation is more dangerous."

Senator Disagrees

Hickenlooper said he was unable to agree fully with Marshall's view.

"It seems to me," he said, "that if the Soviet interest is so much in accord with that of the Communist Chinese, that that interest would dictate that they would see the Communist Chinese through to victory in spite of anything.

"And if we continue as we are in Korea and the Communist Chinese face what may seem to be certain defeat, under that policy, that by that same argument the Russians are going to come in anyway to save them from that defeat."

Hickenlooper added that "we

Discuss Plans For Addition On West Side

Would Lay Out Streets, Sell Lots In Gracely Section

A new addition to Marion's West Side was discussed at a meeting of the Marion Planning Commission yesterday at City Hall. It is the Harvey T. Gracely Parkwood addition a 20-acre tract which lies west of Oliver and south of Bennett streets within the city limits.

Plans call for the laying out of streets and alleys and selling lots to prospective home owners. Plans for the construction of homes in the addition have not yet been completed.

Although shown on the map, streets and alleys have not been surveyed, constructed, or dedicated in the plot.

The Planning Commission discussed the possibility of dedicating the section, but shelved the plans when a decision could not be reached about building lines, lot sizes and the names of the streets.

The possibility of making easements at the rear of the lots for utilities and sewers but in the absence of Mr. Gracely, no decision was reached. Attorney Charles Harmon represented Mr. Gracely who is out of town.

The 20 acre tract is part of a larger tract of land which Mr. Gracely owns extending west from the city limits. Sewers to the plot have not yet been built but Safety Service Director Ralph Forrest told the group they could easily be built.

Hunt Missing Marion Man

Gone From Home Since Tuesday Night

The Marion County sheriff's office is conducting a search for Edward Crowley, 64, of near Marion, who has been missing from his home since Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Mr. Crowley, who makes his home with his brother, James Crowley of north of Marion has not been heard from since he walked away from the home Tuesday evening. Another brother, Claude of East Mark street, also has not seen him.

The disappearance was reported to the sheriff by Mrs. James Crowley.

Mr. Crowley was described by the sheriff's office as being five feet, eight inches tall and weighing 180 pounds. When last seen he was wearing a light blue suit and a light grey topcoat with a light gray striped cap. He was clean shaven at the time of his disappearance.

His brother indicated he did not think Crowley was harmed and expected him to return home. He indicated he would not be worried until Monday.

A spokesman for the family said Mr. Crowley disappeared Tuesday after taking a walk. He gave no indication as to where he planned to go.

"Like Trying To Push Toothpaste Back Into Tube"

Aim To Set Price Line, Not Return To Pre-Korea Level, Says Johnston

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston told Congress today that "trying to push all prices back to pre-Korea days would be like trying to push tootnpaste back into a tube."

He said the government is aiming to establish a stabilized price line and then hold it.

Johnston was called before the House banking committee which is weighing the administration's proposal to broaden and extend the Defense Production Act for two years beyond June 30.

"We hope to have rollbacks in a great many items," Johnston said in a prepared statement, "but we are not promising any general rollback to last June levels or to anything approaching them."

He said that if the government were to push prices back to where they were a year ago it would wind up doing the same for wage rates, salaries, and business profits.

Doubts Wisdom

"I don't think it can be done," he said. "And I certainly doubt the wisdom of trying to do it."

He said the Economic Stabilization Agency (ECA), which he heads, cannot now, under the law, keep most farm prices from rising.

This is because the 1950 Defense Production Act forbids the Establishment of ceiling prices on farm products lower than their parity price.

Parity is a level defined by law as being fair both to farmers and consumers. The parity level for each farm product fluctuates from month to month with the prices of other goods.

Johnston endorsed President Truman's proposal to peg the ceiling prices on farm commodities at the start of a crop season, based on parity levels at the time, and keep the price there throughout the season. Many congressmen have objected to the idea.

"It is a minimum tool if our food price ceilings are to be meaningful to the housewife when she goes into a grocery store to buy," Johnston said. "Otherwise, the ceilings would have to change so frequently that prices would no sooner be posted than they would be out of date."

Critical Point

Johnston told the lawmakers the critical point in the fight against inflation may still be in the future.

"Despite the lull, despite the seeming improvement in the situation, despite the slow down in the price rise and the turn down in some prices, all the factors which make for a rip-roaring inflation are present," he said.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"That might be a good idea," Bill said sapiently. "But I don't imagine they are going to dispute your decision."

I hoped he was right as I went into my bedroom where Katharine and my mother-in-law waited with Faith and young Peter for the luncheon hour.

I found Faith and her grandmother watching young Peter gurgling in his crib, while Katharine heated his formula over my tiny electric stove.

"I'm feeding him now," she said, "in the hope that he'll sleep through luncheon and not cry while that second waiter is in the room."

"I don't think you need to fear," I told her. "These rooms are virtually soundproof, you know."

"Yes, I know," she said, "but young Peter's lungs are in splendid condition."

"But he so seldom cries," I said.

"Leave us hope," she said, as she filled Peter's bottle, and then started to prepare him for his bottle and nap. I waited until she had put him in his crib before speaking.

"Will it disturb him if we talk in low tones?" I asked. "I have some things which ought to be said right away."

"If I draw the screen in front of his crib, and we talk in ordinary tones, neither loud nor low, he won't notice anything."

"Do I—" Faith began, and stopped short, evidently a bit frightened.

"You may listen to what I have to say," I said, "but you must not speak of it, of course, and you must not talk about it now, because Granzie and Aunt Katharine and Mummy are in a hurry Can you remember that?"

"You bet your boots," she said, then clapped her hands over her mouth, and got out a "Sorry" from behind them.

"Just listen quietly," I told her, ignoring her exclamation. Then I turned to Mother Graham and Katharine.

"I have something to propose to you," I said, "on which I must get your approval—or disapproval—before I speak to my father, or to Mr. Olsen," I said.

"You ought to know that you have my approval beforehand," Katharine said.

"And mine also," my mother-in-law put in with emphasis.

"Thank you both, so much," I told them. "Now, this is the problem."

I took a deep breath, then went on swiftly.

"It is going to be a difficult problem to have room service send up meals every day without betraying the presence of Katharine, the baby, Faith and you," I said, turning to my mother-in-law.

"What's the matter with the kitchen in the Veritzen suite?" she demanded. "It's a perfect thing, equipped with every work-saving device possible. If Katharine and I can't cook and keep house for ourselves, Faith and that baby, we ought to go to a Home for the Decrepit. I know that Olga has a trusted maid come every day to clean up. She can stay a little longer, and do our extra chores for us. Don't you think so, Katharine?"

Her cheeks were flushed, and her eyes starry, and I knew that she had received a fillip which had taken years from her, the fillip, so precious to the aged, of realizing that they are needed.

Katharine smiled at her, and I knew that she shared my understanding of the older woman's joy.

"Indeed, I do think so, Mother Graham. You and I, with Faith to help us, can have a wonderful time up there."

Royal Smith, 68, of Upper Sandusky was arrested at 9 a.m. today on Route 23 north of Marion on a charge of speeding. Arraigned in Marion Municipal Court at 10 a.m. today, he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs.

Mr. Grigsby in turn presented similar pins and watches to 34 active and 11 retired employes, all of whom also have 25 or more years of service.

Mr. Sammis marked his first appearance at the Marion division since its acquisition from the Ohio Public Service Co. by Ohio Edison with a brief presentation speech.

Speaking to the group following presentation of the awards, Mr. Sammis told them, "You are all part of a team operating one of the nation's largest electric utility systems. Ohio Edison Company and its subsidiary, Pennsylvania Power Company, cover a territory of approximately 10,000 square miles, and serve 513,000 customers."

14 Plants

When the new Niles plant is completed in 1953, Mr. Sammis said, Ohio Edison will have available twice as much power as it had at the end of 1945.

Police Lie Detector Shields Innocent

OKLAHOMA CITY—(UP)—O. K. Bevins, director of the Oklahoma crime bureau, figures the $1,250 he paid for a lie-detector last year was well spent.

He said the machine has helped his bureau clear 26 of 37 persons tested of any connection with the crime involved.

"We had a Negro hotel maid charged with stealing jewels worth $1,700 from a guest," Bevins said. "It looked as though she were guilty but the lie-detector showed she was telling the truth when she denied knowing anything about the theft and we turned her loose.

"A little later, the owner came in and told us she had found the jewels. She had hidden them and forgotten the hiding place."

He said the lie-detector also had helped get a confession from a man who steadfastly denied killing his wife until shown results of the lie test.

Maximum Penalty Handed Moran, 5 Years in Jail

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—James J. Moran, close associate of former Mayor William O'Dwyer, was sentenced today to a maximum five years in prison and fined $2,000 on a charge of giving perjured testimony before the U. S. Senate crime committee.

Moran, a former deputy fire commissioner, told the crime committee he met Louis Weber, Brooklyn numbers racketeer, about a half dozen times over a period of several years.

But witnesses at Moran's trial in federal court testified that Weber had visited Moran at least 111 times at his Fire Department office.

Moran, 49, refused to testify at his trial. A jury found him guilty on Tuesday.

The conviction was the first here growing out of testimony before the crime committee.

Judge Charles A. Dewey, a visiting jurist from Des Moines, Ia., imposed sentence. He remanded Moran to the custody of his attorney until 4 p.m. (EST), the time limit for posting new bail pending appeal. Moran has been free under $25,000 bail.

The maximum sentence was recommended by U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol, the prosecutor.

Reds

to the former no-man's land near Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul. Heavy anti-aircraft fire met raiding U. N. warplanes trying to break up this concentration.

Communists fired 100 mortar shells at a U. N. tank patrol rumbling into Chunchon, 45 miles northeast of Seoul. For the five preceding days Allied patrols had clanked through the city unopposed.

Reds were building up their forces northeast of Chunchon. American officers expressed belief Reds mihgt launch a diversionary attack in this area.

Far to the north smoke pots screened the countryside. Troops presumably were moving under the smudge.

Allied planes raided a Red concentration spotted southeast of Yanggu in the eastern sector.

Use Loud Speakers

Loudspeakers blared across the mountaintops urging the Communists to hold their positions, telling them reinforcements were on the way. But Allied officers said there was evidence of a general Red withdrawal between Yanggu and Inje. It was in this eastern sector that the U. N. line moved up.

The Eighth Army revised its estimate of Red casualties Thursday to 2,565.

An American F-80 Shooting Star jet was shot down over the front Thursday.

Warplanes raked Red air fields Friday at Hamhung on the east coast and at Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, in the west. The attacks continued a campaign to thwart a possible Red air offensive.

Biggest strike of this campaign, by 312 planes Wednesday at Sinuiju in northwestern Korea, destroyed at least 15 single-engine Red planes caught on the ground, air officers reported.

U. N. bombers began blasting the new Chinese concentration near Kapyong on the central front Thursday night and continued Friday. Attacking planes roared through unusually heavy anti-aircraft fire.

All Planes Draw Fire

Every plane was fired on. Communists even shot at unarmed observer planes, which they usually ignored to conserve ammunition.

A Chinese patrol, reconnoitering south of Kapyong early in the day, fought briefly with a U. N. outpost.

Red strength in the center indicated the Chinese had been able to shift from the western front despite Allied air cover. Action in the west tended to confirm this, AP correspondent George A. McArthur reported.

North Koreans were slipping between mountains north of Seoul in what U. N. officers called a considerable movement. An Eighth Army spokesman said this force either was part of 6,000 Reds driven out of the extreme western sector this week or a new force filtering in from the north.

AP correspondent Robert Eunson reported from Eighth Army headquarters:

"The buildups by the Reds north of Seoul and east of Kapyong confirmed field commanders' belief that the Reds' next drive would come in two moves—(1) a headon smash on the capital and (2) an encircling move east of the city."

OFFICERS ELECTED

BUCYRUS—Officers were elected Monday by the Ladies' Oriental Shrine Club with Mrs. J. H. Blicke named president, succeeding Mrs. R. L. Koons. Mrs. Arthur Stuckert was named vice president; Mrs. Frank Schneider, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Koons, new member of the executive board. A picnic was planned with the arrangements committee to include Mrs. Blicke, Mrs. Schneider and Mrs. R. L. Marquart. Fourteen pairs of felt slippers were turned in for distribution to Shrine hospitals.

OKS RIDGWAY PROMOTION

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—It's now Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The Senate late yesterday confirmed Ridgway's promotion from lieutenant general. President Truman had proposed on Wednesday that he be given a fourth star. The Senate concurred by voice vote. Ridgway succeeded Gen. Douglas MacArthur in his Far East commands.

Senators Hear Marshall

might just as well take after them back in Manchuria with our bombers and destroy their build-up depots and so on, because the reasoning would seem to dictate that Russia would come in just as quickly one way as the other."

Marshall commented that "of course, that is bound to be a matter of judgment." Hickenlooper agreed.

The secretary said that "there are decided technical involvements as to possibilities one way or the other."

Marshall said that only this morning, before coming to the hearing, he had discussed with the Joint Chiefs of Staff the effect of bombing the build-up bases of the Chinese Communists and related matters.

He added that his reactions in the matter "come very largley from the chiefs of staff" and then went on to sketch briefly the background and experience of each of them.

Praises Staff

The men are Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman; Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Forces; Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Navy, and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army.

Marshall told the Senators:

"I frankly doubt that this government will ever be so fortunate as to have such a collection of experience at one time in the chiefs of staff."

But when he came to saying what their opinions were about the best thing to do about the various matters under discussion, the public transcript was blanked out by the censor. About 450 words were cut out.

The Senate committees—armed services and foreign relations—hold their hearings behind closed doors but send a stenographic report of them to newsmen. The transcript is first censored by Defense and State Department representatives who cut out statements they decide should not, in the national interest, be made public.

Marshall has said he expects victory will be won in Korea by inflicting such terrific casualties on the Chinese Communists that their morale will break and they will seek a negotiated peace.

Hickenlooper suggested the Chinese Communists will use their hoarded air strength and "every weapon at their command" before they capitulate.

"Won't they use all the force they have to prevent a defeat?" the senator asked.

130-Word Reply

Marshall's reply—130 words—was deleted by the censor, and Hickenlooper then said:

"The philosophy is for us to sit back and wait until they throw their full power against us and then retaliate rather than to use the tactics or the strategy or whatever mixed terms one might use to attempt to destroy them on the ground before they are able to inflict whatever damage the initial wave would inflict on us."

Marshall replied: "That is one way of putting it, senator. I would say we are not waiting for that. We are going ahead with our own maneuvers to produce the most advantageous situation we can."

Hickenlooper read from a magazine article in which Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, chief of staff of the air force, was quoted as saying "air power was rendered practically inoperative" in Korea when the United Nations banned bombing north of the Yalu River "in an effort to avoid a diplomatic rupture with the Chinese Communists." The Yalu is the boundary between Korea and Manchuria.

The Iowan said this showed bombing north of the Yalu was necessary from a military point of view but was halted as "a political decision."

Marshall commented he presumed the article was written at the time Chinese Communists first entered the war last November.

Favored

He recalled he had testified the Joint Chiefs of Staff at that time proposed to carry out "hot pursuit"—chasing of enemy planes across the Yalu in air combat—and added he favored this "very emphatically."

But American Allies in Korea did not favor this, he said, and by the time their views had been obtained it was an academic matter because U.N. forces had retreated 200 miles from the Manchurian border.

This meant the air force had 200 miles "in which to deal with them (the Communists) and deal with supplies," Marshall said.

Hickenlooper also pressed the point that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had intended that their recommendations contained in a Jan. 12 document should become effective either when the U.N. forces evacuated Korea or "the situation became stabilized."

MacArthur has contended four points in these recommendations paralleled his program for winning the war in Korea.

Hickenlooper asked Marshall if the situation in Korea had not been stabilized some time ago.

"Technically, no," the secretary replied, "because there has been considerable change in the situation since that time, in the movement of troops, in the morale of the Army, which has a great deal to do with stabilization."

Terminology

Marshall conceded it was a question of terminology. But he said he had stated previously the Jan. 12 document "has not been disapproved, it has not been vetoed, there has been no specific action taken by any other members of the government concerned to block the procedure, because they have gone over, the Chiefs of Staff, each phase of it and have been satisfied with the decisions."

MacArthur had testified he thought the Jan. 12 document showed the Joint Chiefs agreed with his proposals, and said he assumed their ideas were vetoed by Marshall or by President Truman.

For the first time since Marshall began appearing before the joint foreign relations and armed services committees, he was a bit late in arriving.

The secretary reached the hearing room in the Senate office building three minutes after the scheduled starting time of 9 a.m. (E.S.T.).

However, only nine senators were present at the time. There are 26 on the two committees.

Committee aides said the senators were talking about holding an afternoon session in an effort to finish with Marshall today.

The dispute over MacArthur's dismissal centers on whether his policies or the Truman administration's would more likely touch off war with Russia.

Hot Senate Debate

The controversy over the Asian policy advocated by MacArthur and the administration's European program boiled over into general Senate debate after the inquiry committee had recessed yesterday.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, shouted in the Senate that the administration "has not hesitated to give Russia cause for war" in Europe. The Ohioan endorsed MacArthur's plea for an intensified effort to bring the Korean conflict to an end.

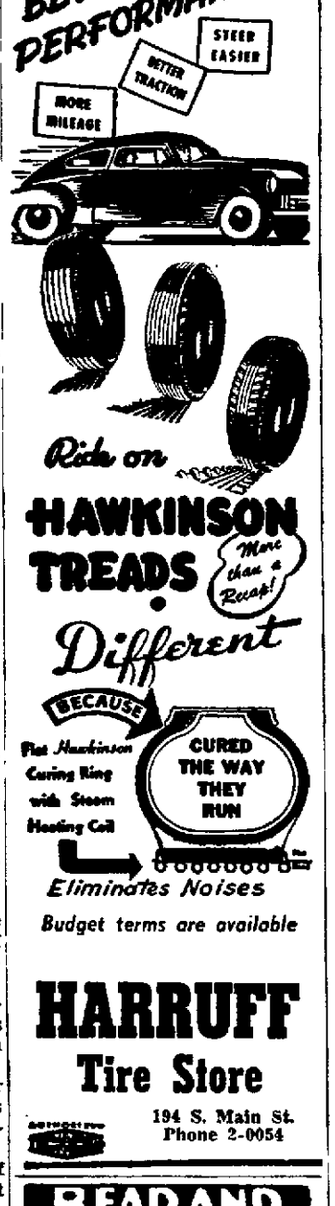
Senator McMahon (D-Conn), a supporter of the administration program, suggested that Russia is trying to lure the United States into the "trap" of an all-out war in China.

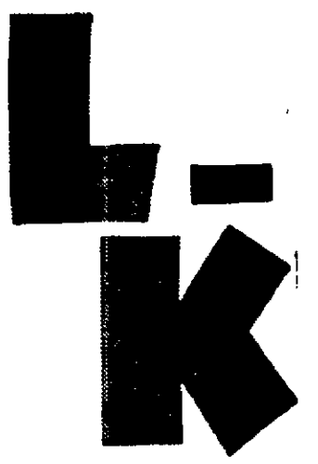
"We have fallen for it," said Taft. "This administration put us into it."

Taft declared "we have repeatedly brought about conditions that might have led to a war with Russia," and added:

"We have said in Europe, 'cross this line and you will be in a war.' . . . We have taken more risks in Europe than we have been willing to take in Asia."

Marshall, a five star general, reiterated to the inquiry committee that this country had no choice but to join in the program for defense of Western Europe. He has said the only alternative would be to "surrender the situation to the Soviet government."





Band, Orchestra Tag Sale Begins

The two-day tag sale for the benefit of the Harding High School band and orchestra got under way today and is scheduled to continue through Saturday. A proclamation designating the two tag days for the Harding band and orchestra was issued by Mayor Harold F. Robinson, who urged Marion citizens "to contribute to the worthy cause so that the community may enjoy and participate in the programs which the band and orchestra so graciously presents throughout the year."

The sale is under sponsorship of the Band and Orchestra Parents Association, with Raymond Donaugh serving as chairman. Proceeds will go into the general fund of the two groups, which is used to purchase music, instruments or additions to uniforms.

Cartier Takes On Hairston In TV Bout

NEW YORK, May 11—(UP)—Eugene (Silent) Hairston and Walter Cartier, two of the brightest prospects in the middleweight ranks, tangle in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight with a possible September title shot as the stake.

Hairston, the dusky deaf-mute, was 7-6 favorite to beat his fellow New Yorker, although Cartier wrested a 10-round decision from him in their first meeting a year-and-a-half ago.

The scrap signals the return of boxing to the Garden after a five-week absence while the circus was in town. And it signals the opening of an ambitious program by the International Boxing Club, which next week stages the welterweight title go between Johnny Bratton and Kid Gavilan.

Boxing men have made Hairston the favorite because of his excellent condition, plus the belief that he is a far better fighter now than he was in losing to Cartier on a narrow decision, Nov. 2, 1949.

"What Manner of Man Is This?"

JESUS entered a ship to depart for the other shore and His disciples followed Him.

There arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was covered with waves, but He was asleep.

And His disciples came to Him, and awoke Him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish.

And He said to them, Why are ye fearful, Oh ye of little faith? Then He arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm.

But the men marvelled, saying, What manner of Man is this, that even the winds and sea obey Him? (Taken from St. Matthew 9, 23-27).

Lightning Hits Homes in Marion And Green Camp

Weird results and considerable damage followed strikes by bolts of lightning, one on North Main street last night and one near Green Camp today.

At 6:28 p.m. yesterday a bolt of lightning hit a television aerial on the roof of the home of William Temple at 625 North Main street.

The bolt blew out the television aerial cable, seven windows in the north side of the house, all the electric fuses in the house, then followed the electric line across the street and blew out fuses in the homes of C. S. Philbrook of 716 North Main, Fred Gilbert of 724 North Main, George Pemberton of 732 North Main and C. P. Womack of 736 North Main.

Firemen from Mark street fire station were called to the scene but no fire resulted.

At 8:15 a.m. today another bolt of lightning struck an electric power line on the Keener Pike, west of Green Camp. The bolt traveled down the electric line to the home of Edward Pfeiffer, blew out all telephone and electric service in the Keener Pike area and traveled on past the Pfeiffer house to blow out fuses in a house nearby. A three-foot spark of electricity jumped from the Pfeiffer electric stove.

Utility companies expected to have phone and electric service restored late today.

GALION—A 14-year-old boy was taken into police custody here Tuesday when he arrived with Mills Brothers Circus. He was working with a tent erecting crew when he was located by Galion police after Richland County authorities had sent word here to look for the boy. Police said Booth had left his home in Chillicothe to travel with the circus.

Blame Korean War

Scouts Moan Drawbacks On Signing Prospects

CINCINNATI, May 11 (AP)— Major league baseball scouts say it's tough work to sign college players to contracts these days.

They blame the war in Korea.

The scouts are afraid that if they give the offers of the scouts, the Army will draft them, said Hank Gowdy, Cincinnati baseball scout who has been in the other day [illegible] to sign a youngster who is enrolled in college B. O. T. C. and beyond the age of the old days and now supervisor for the New York Yankee farm clubs, agreed.

The three former major leaguers were in Cincinnati to see the University of Cincinnati-Miami University baseball game when they gave their opinions.

Gowdy, now 62, and a veteran of two wars and 19 years of catching in the National League, said one fault of the current crop of young ballplayers is that they do not stick to one position.

"It's hard enough to master one position, without trying to be a jack of all trades," he declared.

"Say you're a fellow who I think is a pretty good judge of ballplayers," he continued. "You tell me there is a young shortstop over in a certain town that you think is a good prospect.

Strongest Arm

"I go over to take a look at him and find he is pitching. Too often coaches these days take the strongest armed kid and use him as a pitcher. This, many times, retards the developement of a youth who has a chance of becoming a good player."

Gowdy is not too impressed with the phenomenal records of kids who pitch.

Too often, he said, the record is made by a boy who is big for his age and simply overpowers the other kids.

Grimes, famed spitballer and later manager of the Brooklyn club had the least to say of the visiting scouts, but he nodded assent to much of the viewpoint of the other visitors.

Kline, it will be recalled, pitched for Boston, Philadelphia and Washington in the American League in the '30's.

No Professionals

Army's reach," said another scout —Bob Kline, who beats the bushes for the St. Louis Cards.

"That narrows the scouting down to high school and sandlot baseball, and I've taken in seven scholastic tournaments already this spring and have yet to see a kid who is ready for professional baseball."

Liquor Permit Thaw Fought By Lausche

Senate Action Hit; Report Filed On Subversives Probe

COLUMBUS, May 11—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has pulled out all the stops in an effort to block enactment of a law killing off the state's liquor permit freeze.

The bill, sponsored by a fellow Democrat, Sen. Arthur Blake of Belmont County, called forth Lausche's personal opposition even before the Senate's favorable 20-8 vote yesterday.

And, within a few hours after he had lost the Senate round of the battle, Lausche loosed another blast in which he declared:

"If this bill is finally passed by the House and 4,000 new permits are dumped on the state, I shudder to think what the law enforcement problem will be and what evils will arise. It is not a good bill. It should not become law."

The State Board of Liquor Control froze issuance of new liquor permits April 11, 1949. Blake's bill requires the Liquor Department to issue liquor permits in the restaurant, private club and night club classifications up to the limit of the quotas established on a population basis by law.

The battle over the permit freeze developed on one of the busiest days of the legislative session. The day saw:

OK Padlock Bill

The House approved 119-1 and sent to the Senate a measure permitting courts to padlock gambling houses as common nuisances for one year.

The joint Senate-House anti-subversives investigating committee make its report and offered a bill creating a permanent, 12-member un-American activities commission.

The Senate approve 22-7 and send to the House a bill opposed by the cities of Columbus, Akron and Youngstown giving municipal transit firms the right to appeal rate disputes to the State Utilities Commission.

The padlock measure is the third major anti-gambling bill of the General Assembly. It was requested by Governor Lausche.

The assembly's two other major anti-gambling bills are the sheriff-mayor-prosecutor removal bill, which probably will become law without Lausche's signature, and a bill making it a felony to own, display or transport slot machines. The slots bill has been approved by the House and is awaiting a Senate vote.

The permanent anti-subversives commission was proposed by Sens. Leo Blackburn (R-Scioto) and C. I. Powell (R-Clark). Both were members of the temporary committee.

The proposal came at the end of a two-month investigation into the best way to combat communism's menace in Ohio. The committee went out of existence last midnight.

Minority Report

Three of the four Democratic members of the committee filed a minority report. They said a permanent commission would serve "no useful purpose." Senate minority leader Joseph Bartunek (D-Cuyahoga), the fourth Democratic committee member, signed neither report.

The minority report came from Sen. Charles Carney (D-Mahoning) and Reps. Corrigan and Robert W. Reider of Ottawa County.

The Republican majority report, in addition to urging the permanent commission, proposed an analysis of people and groups seeking violent overthrow of our government; a study of state laws to deal with subversives, and a commission report to the governor and the next legislature on the need for creation of an un-American activities group.

The majority report declared:

"There exists in the state of Ohio today a strong and active Communist movement which in its origin, its development and its present practice is a worldwide revolutionary movement. The purpose . . . is by deceit, treachery, infiltration into other groups, sabotage, espionage, terrorism or any other means deemed necessary, to establish Communist totalitarian dictatorship in the countries throughout the world through the medium of worldwide Communist organization."

The report was signed by these Republicans: Rep. Kenneth Robinson (Marion), the chairman; Speaker Gordon Renner (Hamilton), Samuel L. Devine (Franklin), Sens. Powell, Blackburn, James G. Headley (Hamilton) and Senate majority leader Roscoe R. Walcutt (Franklin).

TEMPLE INSPECTED

Annual inspection was held when Canby Temple No. 152, Pythian Sisters, met Wednesday night in the I.O.O.F. Hall. In charge of the inspection was Mrs. Mildred Kempton of Green Camp, district deputy. About 60 persons were present, including visitors from Morral, Kilbourn, Green Camp, Mt. Gilead, Mansfield, Crestline and Waldo. Mrs. Marietta Heller of Morral, grand manager, was a special guest. One candidate for membership was initiated. Gifts were presented to the district deputy and the grand manager. Refreshments were served following the meeting with the social committee in charge.

Veterans and Draftees Guide —

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

From C S of Chester, S C: "I'll both graduate from high school and turn 19 in June and am wondering if I should start college in the summer. Will 19-year-olds be called before September?"

Only your own draft board can tell you. Some boards may dig into their 19-year-old pool this summer but the manpower situation is different in each board.

From R W G of Bethesda, Md: "Is there any way I can have my NSL dividend paid ahead of time? I need the money badly.

No. The only way to speed up payment is to be sure to pay right on time the premium due on the policy's anniversary date.

From D. W. H of Burlington, Vt: "When will recalled Air Force reservists be released?"

The Air Force says non-drill-pay enlisted reservists will be released after 12 months' active service. They will be screened after ten months to see if they want to remain on active duty. Organized reserve airmen and all USAFR officers will be kept in active service for the full time allowed by law, according to present Air Force plans.

From L. H R of Edmond Okla "My son just went into service and it's likely we may lose our farm stock and equipment without him at home. Is there ever a chance of getting a boy deferred after he is in service?"

He might possibly get a hardship discharge, but it seems unlikely. His family's hardship must be "undue and genuine," not just an inconvenience because of his absence. The hardship must not be of a temporary nature and it must have arisen since he went into service.

From G. L. C. of New York, N. Y.: "I asked my draft board about applying for an occupational deferment and was told I should wait until I get my induction orders. Is this correct?"

Absolutely not. A board may never reopen a classification after the Order to Report for Induction is sent, unless it finds there has been a change in the registrant's status "resulting from circumstances over which the registrant had no control."

So apply now in writing and in the letter give your board the facts about your occupational status which you have not given it before and which would justify a deferment But remember, it's entirely up to the board whether it will even reopen your classification.

From K. Y. B. of New Bedford, Mass.. "How much pay do new 2nd Lieutenants get?"

Basic pay of $213.75 a month if they've had less than two years' prior service, active and inactive

(You may write Major Nial in care of this newspaper about your own service-connected question. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.)

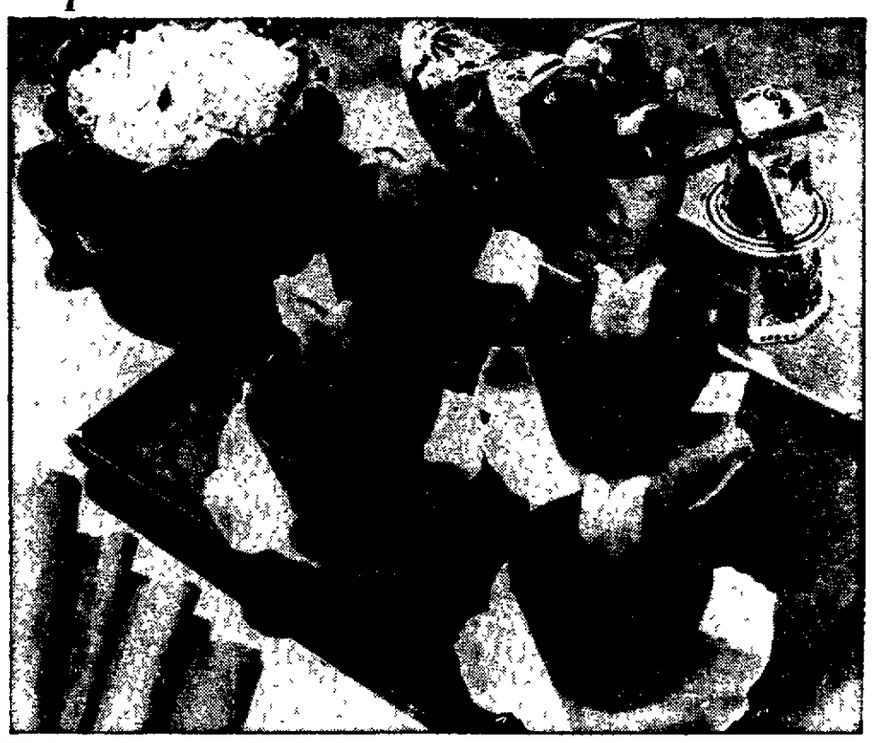
Tulip Time Produces Clever Flower Pot Salad



THE flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have plenty to do in this case. For here they serve as the inspiration for decorative flower pot salads Of course the flowers are really cucumber strips and the flower pots can be eaten, since they are tomato aspics in disguise.

Using tulip time as the theme, the flower pots are made by molding the tomato aspic in custard cups and then unmolding and inverting them. Add a tulip cut from a cucumber strip and your salad is ready to blossom out on your May menus.

TULIP TOMATO ASPIC
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold tomato juice
1¼ cups hot tomato juice
¼ t salt
⅛ t pepper
1 T lemon juice
1 cucumber
1 cup cottage cheese

Soften gelatin in cold tomato juice. Dissolve thoroughly in very hot tomato juice, stirring well Season and flavor with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Pour into individual custard cups. Chill until firm. Unmold; invert on dishes to resemble "flower pots" Cut wide strips of peel from cucumber. Using a paper pattern, cut out tulips from cucumber strips. Place tulips in flower pots. Dice remaining cucumber; combine with cottage cheese. Serve with salad. Yields 4 servings.

Galion Music Group Holds Annual Dinner

Special to The Star

GALION, May 11 — Two of Mansfield's outstanding musicians and one of Galion's prominent young pianists were artists presenting the program for the third annual banquet of the Pro Arte Music Society.

Mrs. F. P. Walter, violinist of Mansfield, was accompanied by Miss Louise Krause, also of Mansfield, in presenting two groups of numbers. The musicians are active members of the Mansfield Music Study Club Their program was furnished through the courtesy of the Middle-North District of the Ohio Federation of which the Galion group is affiliated.

Miss Joan Dougherty, Galion pianist and composer, presented part of her recital program for the Mary Manse College, School of Music at Toledo, where she is completing her second year. She is a member of the upper five percent of her class and her latest composition is a hymn which has reached the final judges at the Cleveland Institute of Music. She played two groups of numbers.

The program followed a dinner served in the dining room at Hotel Talbott Tuesday night. Mrs. Carl W. Freeman, retiring president, greeted the members and guests and introduced the new officers. Ben Harris, president, responded. Mrs. Freeman also introduced the entertainers.

PLEDGE $500

MARYSVILLE — Blue Star Mothers voted this week to give a pledge of $500 for the year toward the new stadium at Veteran's Hospital in Chillicothe, with $200 of that amount to be paid at the convention. This is in addition to the $1500 already paid by this chapter to the project.

St. Louis May Lose Franchise For Browns

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

EVERYBODY GETTING INTO THE ACT. If you see grandma emerge from the closet wearing a baseball cap and pounding her fist in a catcher's mit, don't get excited—she's probably felt the "bite" that seems to have gotten all Marionites from one to ninety.

This town has become softball happy with everyone from the youngsters to women employed in industrial plants getting into the act. In the Y.M.C.A.-sponsored softball leagues there are 32 teams playing four nights a week and girl teams have now been organized by Marion Industries, Marion Power Shovel, Fulfillment, and Engineer Depot.

FIRST TIME. It is the first time that an attempt has been made to organize girl softball leagues in Marion among various plants although there have been basketball leagues in the past.

Only local feminine softballers last season were Harold Smith's nine, Smitty's Maids. But they have to play their games with teams from the area and Columbus.

Girl softball leagues have become big business at the box office in other cities and could go over here with a few days who could hit and field along the lines of Babe Didrickson.

NOT ENOUGH. Bud England, who pitches for Smitty's All-Stars and General Alloy in two leagues, must be asking what a fellow has to do to win. Wednesday night he shut out Post Office without a hit, but lost, 1-0. To make it worse his brother, Bob, scored the winning run.

Bud was pitching for the second straight night without a rest which makes his accomplishment even more impressive. His rival moundsman, Lee Kirby, gave up only two safeties after covering the shortstop position for Waldo against The Marion Star in the Commercial League the previous night.

SHUFFLE OFF TO CLEVELAND. Bob Garster came into the Jim Dugan store Wednesday afternoon asking, "Anyone want to go to Cleveland to see the Indians-Yanks game?"

Everyone agreed it "was a good idea," but on too short a notice. Bob McCollister, clerk, turned back to the task of selling a customer a bathing suit with a look of regret and a comment, "should be a great game."

After a mixup in the ticket arrangement, the group ended up in Tris Speaker's private box next to the Cleveland dugout.

The Tribe went down to defeat, 9-2, and today Bob admits it wasn't such a bad day for bathing suits after all—."

RED HEAD. Heads were being turned in Marion Wednesday afternoon as a husky young man walked beside his attractive wife But it wasn't they who were drawing the attention.

The youngster walking between them on steady legs and nodding his red, curley hair was the big attraction. It was Marv Stendel, Marsox first sacker, enjoying the sights with his family who just arrived here from their home in St. Louis. Stendel has supplied most of the power at the plate for Manager Elmer Yoter's team so far in the early season.

Eye Milwaukee As 8th Club In League

ST. LOUIS, May 11—(AP)—Talk that the American League Browns may be moved out of St. Louis rumbled through the baseball world yesterday like an avalanche touched off by a loose boulder.

You just don't pick up marbles and go home if you're unhappy in organized baseball. The entire complicated structure shakes when a stone is dislodged.

There was proof of that in reaction to a report that the Browns, seeking solvency, may stake a claim elsewhere. Milwaukee was mentioned as pay dirt territory.

Denied

A possible move to that city was denied by club owners Bill and Charley DeWitt. They conceded, however, that poor attendance here might force the team out of St. Louis.

Bill said the Browns are not for sale, that a price has never been put on the club. But he quickly added that if an attractive offer is made "we would have to listen attentively."

The Browns, tied with Philadelphia for last place, have drawn only 44,192 customers in 12 games at home this season.

The alleged strategy calls for the Cardinals to relinquish their Columbus franchise in the American Association in exchange for the Milwaukee franchise in the same circuit.

For the Columbus property the Cardinals would acquire ownership of Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, now owned by the Browns.

The Red Birds would move their American Association franchise to Omaha, Neb., where they now own a Western League club. The first cry of anguish went up in Washington from Sen. Ed Johnson, president of the Western League. The circuit cannot afford to give up Omaha and will not do so, he said.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, said he had no word of a possible transfer of the Browns to Milwaukee. Such a move, he added, would require approval of the franchise transfer by both major leagues including a unanimous vote by the American League.

Everyone mentioned in the reported transfer denied knowledge of it.

GETS SNAPPED WITH A SNAPPER. Three-year-old Fred Michael Noll of Creve Coeur, Ill., near Peoria, is a happy youngster as he poses with a 21-pound snapping turtle he caught in the Chautauqua refuge near Havana, Ill. The little lad's equipment consisted of a six-foot cane pole and a minnow for bait. His dad, Fritz Noll, gave him a hand in bringing the big fellow to shore.

Chapman May Play In Chicago Series

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—With third place at stake, the Cleveland Indians open a four-game series with the Chicago White Sox tonight.

Joe Dobson, a righthander who split 2-2 against the Indians last season when he hurled for the Boston Red Sox, will go against the Tribe's Early Wynn who had a 4-1 record against Chicago in 1950. Wynn has won two and lost two so far this campaign, and Dobson hasn't yet posted a victory or defeat.

The series here may see Manager Al Lopez try his first wholesale juggling of the Tribe line-up, for in the past week Cleveland has lost four of six games.

Outfielder Sam Chapman, obtained from the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, probably will break into the lineup tomorrow afternoon or in Sunday's doubleheader.

"I don't think I'll use him in the first game, unless it would be as a pinchhitter," Lopez said, but "I'll probably start him Saturday or Sunday."

Give Up Clark, Klein

The Indians gave up Outfielder Allie Clark and utility Infielder Lou Klein for the 35-year-old Chapman in a straight trade. Lopez made it clear Chapman was not obtained to sit on the bench, but the Tribe pilot would not say whether he intended starting the veteran slugger in left field or right.

"First, I want to see what kind of shape he's in," Lopez said. "Then I'll decide where and when to use him."

Chapman is a good-fielding, strong-throwing fly-chaser and last year he batted .251, clouted 23 homers and drove in 95 runs for the last-place Athletics.

The Tribe got the 27-year-old Clark from the New York Yankees before the start of the 1948 season. Clark batted .309 that year, but his hitting has been down ever since. This season he got three hits in 11 times at bat, one of them a homer.

Klein, who is 32, played with Los Angeles last year and batted .332. In 1947-1948 he played in the Mexican League and the following year returned to St Louis to hit .219.

The two-for-one trade cut Cleveland's roster to 27, two more than the limit which becomes effective next week.

Ferrier Leads In First Round But Hogan Making Bid

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 11—(AP)—Ben Hogan's record score for the fourth annual Greenbrier Open golf tourney is threatened and so is his title if he doesn't keep moving today.

The Texan bantam got off to a ragged start in yesterday's opening round with a tie for fourth place, but he was moving fast at the end.

"I was going good at the finish," said Ben in an obvious remark. He dropped birdie putts on four of the last five holes of the course over which he shot 259 last year to tie the world record for 72 holes on a par 70 course.

Meanwhile, Jim Ferrier of San Francisco starts the second round with a sizzling 64 to lead for the first 18 holes of the 72-hole tourney.

While Ferrier, the former Australian amateur king, was belaboring par, Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., was only a whit behind. Hamilton plopped in the only eagle of the first round, a 35-foot chip shot on the 14th green, to wind up with a 65 and one stroke behind the leader.

Tied at 67 for third were Sam Snead, George Fazio of Conshocken, Pa., and Tony Penna of Cincinnati.

Hogan had two companions also at 68, Dutch Harrison of St. Andrews, Ill., and Henry Picard of Cleveland.

"TELL ME MOTHER?" This colt appears to be asking his dam, Busher, about his sire, Jet Pilot, 1947 Kentucky Derby winner, at Leslie Combs II's Spendthrift Farm at Lexington, Ky.

Reds Gunning For Cardinals; Blackie Wins

CINCINNATI, May 11—(AP)—It seems kind of hard-hearted to report that Cincinnati is straining at the leash to meet the makeshift St. Louis Cardinals team tonight.

But then baseball never was particularly known as an Alphonse and Gaston act. Besides, it wasn't the Reds who set the flu bug on St. Louis.

Just yesterday, Marty Marion's dwindling squad was jolted by its hardest loss to date—Stan ("The Man") Musial was kayoed by the same illness which already has bedded down six Cardinal players and a coach.

While St. Louis was staggering under its burden, Cincinnati was being lifted to new heights of hope following Ewell Blackwell's lustrous performance against the Boston Braves yesterday.

After a shaky start, Blackwell has shown tremendous signs of becoming a 20-game winner this year. The way he fashioned a seven-hit, 4-1 triumph over the Braves in their own back yard spoke well for his chances of once more entering the charmed circle.

His masterful pitching also served notice to silence the skeptics who were mouthing it around that the big guy had lost his stuff. It was his fourth straight win after two early season losses.

Meet the Marsox

Marvin Stendel

Big 210-pound, 6-3½ Marvin Stendel holds down the first base post for Elmer Yoter's Marion Red Sox this season. Twenty-one-year old Marvin is a native of St. Louis where he began his baseball training.

Stendel lays claim to the longest single ever hit by any of the Marion crew. The converted outfielder once smacked a ball 390 feet against the centerfield wall only to be held to a single by fast fielding.

The righthanded thrower and hittre is in his first year of professional baseball. He played amateur ball at Storm and hitter is in his first year Lake, Iowa where he belted the ball at a .330 clip and at St. Louis where he finished with a .450 average.

A graduate of Roosevelt High School in St. Louis, Marv attends the University of Arkansas during the winter months.

Marv's hobby is reading. He is married and the father of a small son. Other than baseball, Marv divides his time between football and baseball.

Rain Halts Prexy Run With Fostoria

The Buckeye League track meet set for Fostoria High School's track last night was postponed by league officials because of wet grounds and cold weather.

A heavy downpour all day yesterday and a mercury drop to 40 degrees forced the postponement. Officials held off calling the meet until 3:15 p.m. but when the rain continued postponed it.

Harding Coach Ken Somerlot said the meet would be run off Monday with the preliminaries set for 6 p.m.

Field of 30 To Appear At Marion Speedway Sunday

Champions and record-holders will return for another crack at the Marion Speedway's fast track this Sunday.

The winner of the 1950 Ohio Midget Championship—Al Schaffer, of Columbus — will return, along with Marion's own Paul Hooper, Bill Gray and Al Weber, both of Akron. All four turned the quarter-mile track last Sunday in less than 20 seconds—the previous track record.

A classy field of some 30 of the midwest's top midget drivers will chase the four record-breakers around the track. This Sunday, B and A Enterprises, track promoters, plan to use the shorter one-fifth mile track, rather than the quarter-mile. This will put the drivers to the task of driving an almost continuous circle. It will result in more contact between cars and will necessitate more skillful driving.

More than 1,500 fans jammed the stands at last Sunday's opening program. They saw Schaffer sweep every race in which he was entered and take the 50-lap feature race—the Ohio Midget Championship. In addition, they saw a demonstration by one of the big cars which will run at the Speedway May 20. Following last Sunday's race program, the big car—owned by Roy Stevens, of Fredericktown — turned the track in 19.60 seconds. The track record is 19.40 in a midget car, held by Schaffer. Stevens says he is sure this record will be lowered May 20 when the big cars take a crack at it.

The gates open at the Speedway—five miles north of Marion, off route 23—at 11:00 each Sunday. Time trials begin at 12:00 and races at 2:30.

Big Ten Teams Set For Pennant Bids

CHICAGO, May 11—(AP)—Undefeated Ohio State and Michigan State try to stretch their victory strings today and tomorrow in bids for the Big Ten baseball pennant.

Ohio State puts a 4-0 record on the line against third-place Indiana (4-1) at Columbus in the No. 1 series of the weekend. Michigan State, opening championship play a week ago with a two-game sweep over Iowa, is scheduled at Michigan (0-6) today with the Wolverines invading East Lansing tomorrow.

Other Big Ten engagements send Iowa (2-4) to Minnesota (2-4) and Northwestern (4-2) to Wisconsin (2-3).

HURLS NO-HITTER

MONROE, La., May 11—(AP)—Darvin Chrisco, 20-year-old righthander of Vernon, Tex., made Cotton States League baseball history for Monroe last night as he hurled the Sports to a no-hit no-run 5-0 victory over the Hot Springs Bathers.

WHO CAN'T HIT?

KENT, Ohio, May 11 — Russ Stahlman, star righthander on Kent State's baseball team, smiles when someone says, "Pitchers can't hit." Currently leading the K.S.U. squad with a lusty .470 average in the hitting department, Stahlman has counted 8 base hits, including two triples and one home run blast, in coming to bat 17 times. No other member on the team has cracked one for four bases this season.

Giants "Getting up off Floor" to Show Critics

Winners In Nine Of Last 11 Games

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Al Dark Hitting .370, Leo Durocher is leading his New York Giants back from the National League boneyard.

Dark, not Bobby Thomson or Monte Irvin, is the big man in the Giants bounce-back surge after their embarrassing start. Since the club broke its 11-game losing streak; Dark has averaged .486 at the plate in the last 11 games.

Because the early form chart is topsy turvy, the Giants have been able to recover from their early staggers. Now they're back in the league, only four games out of first place.

Everybody expected the solid Eastern clubs to fatten on their weak Western brethren. So what happened? Only the Giants did themselves any good in the first intersectional series.

Phils Wobble

Boston and Brooklyn settled for .500 against the West and the defending champion Phillies wobbled around at a 4-6 pace.

The Giants comeback was expected. By winning nine of 11 they almost wiped out the memory of their horrible start. Three more wins and they'll be up even with the .500 mark.

Alvin Dark

Dark took matters into his own hands while the West visited the Polo grounds. Twice he had four hits. He hammered two grand slam homers and he drove in 14 runs in the last nine games while his buddy, Eddie Stanky, continued to get on base every game with a hit or walk. Stanky at .315 is the only other regular in the .300 class.

Dark had a hand in all the Giants runs in yesterday's 3-2 win over the flu-riddled St. Louis Cardinals. He singled in the first and rode home on Hank Thompson's home run blast into the right field seats. In the third he doubled and scored the run that proved decisive on Ray Noble's single.

The three-straight sweep from St. Louis lost some of its glamor because the Cards were far below par. Stan Musial, floored by a virus attack, stayed in his hotel room. Only three regulars were in the lineup. Six players and a coach were knocked out by the flu.

Rookie Roger Bowman and veteran Dave Koslo teamed up to hold the Cards to seven hits with the win going to Bowman.

Cincy Wins

Cincinnati tightened the race by knocking off the leading Boston Braves, 4-1, on Ewell Blackwell's seven-hit pitching. The loss left the Braves in first place by one game.

The slim sidearm ace had Boston eating out of his hand. He missed a shutout in the eighth because Grady Hatton let a pop fly fall for a two-base error.

Brooklyn crowded closer to the Braves by bumping Chicago, 6-1. It was Don Newcombe's first win in almost three weeks. The big blow against loser Cal McLish was Gil Hodges' ninth homer in the fifth inning.

Pittsburgh, a distant eighth last year, wound up a successful tour by shutting out the Phillies, 2-0, on Murry Dickson's four-hitter. All the scoring came in the sixth off Bubba Church. Gus Bell accounted for one with his third homer.

The Phils also lost a catcher when Del Wilbur was knocked out in a crash with Wally Westlake. Several stitches were required to close a gash under the eye. With first stringer Andy Seminick still resting at home after being hit on the head by a pitch, the Phils are in a bad way for catching help as they leave home for a two-week tour.

All American League action was postponed. It was too cold for Washington at Detroit and too rainy for Boston at Chicago, New York at Cleveland and Philadelphia at St. Louis.

Chapman Named Regular in Tribe Lineup by Lopez

CLEVELAND, May 11—(AP)—Manager Al Lopez said the acquisition of outfielder Sam Chapman "definitely gives us a winning combination" but indicated the Cleveland Indians were seeking still further deals to strengthen the team.

The 35-year-old Chapman was acquired yesterday in a straight deal with the Philadelphia Athletics for Allie Clark and Lou Klein. It was the Tribe's third deal within 10 days with the Athletics. They had previously obtained Pitchers Lou Brissie and Charley Harris.

Lopez conceded the latest trade greatly strengthened the Indians but said the Yankees "still are the team to beat in the American League race."

He said Chapman, who hit .251 and knocked in 95 runs last season, "will be my regular right fielder although he may not start against the White Sox tonight.

BATTING — Al Dark, Giants—Boosted batting average to .370 with double and single, scoring two runs in New York's, 3-2, edge over St. Louis.

PITCHING—Murry Dickson, Pirates—Shut out Phillies with four hits, 2-0, for fourth victory.

MOTORCYCLIST. Dick Klamforth of Grovesport is expected to duel with Bobby Hall of Columbus in the big four-star motorcycle race at Powell Speedway Sunday. Klamforth, 22-year-old farm boy captured the 200-mile championship race at Daytona Beach, Fla., last winter for the second successive time.

Edison Grabs Track Victory

Edison Junior High School registered its second straight track win yesterday by downing Galion Junior High School, 54 1/3—36 2/3, in a Tri-City League dual meet.

The Edison thinclads raced to nine first places while Galion took first only in the high jump and shot put.

First place finishers follow:

RUBBER MAN ILL

CLEVELAND, May 11—(AP)—Johnny Risko, 48, whose heavyweight bouts included scraps with Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Max Baer and other topnotchers in the class, is seriously ill. Risko was stricken with a heart ailment a week ago and is in an oxygen tent in Lutheran Hospital. Since his retirement from the ring, he has operated a cafe here.

Americans 3 Down After Second Nine

BIRKDALE, England, May 11—(AP)—America's top Walker Cup pair, Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., went to lunch 3 down to Ronnie White and Joe Carr of Britain in their 36-hole Walker Cup foursome match today.

One down at the turn, the two Americans continued to play poorly as they took alternate shots at a single ball and wound up the 18 holes with a 36-40—76, two strokes over par for the rugged Birkdale Course. Their opponents shot a steady 36-36, clipping two strokes from par on the back nine.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Jim McHale of Philadelphia rallied on the back nine to reach the halfway mark all square with with their British rivals, Cecil Ewing and John Langley. The Americans were one down at the turn after going out in a messy 41.

They were three down going to the 16th, but cut loose with two birdies and an eagle on the last three holes to square matters. Coe sank a six-foot putt to win the 16th with an eagle three after McHale had played a beautiful long second shot. McHale placed his tee shot six feet from the hole on the 186-yard 17th, and on the long home hole Coe chipped within 18 inches of the cup to assure another birdie.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address On Citizenship

Youngstown Pastor Is Guest Speaker At Weekly Meeting

"Hands Without Handles" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. Russell Humbert, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church at Youngstown, when he spoke before members of the Marion Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding

Dr. Humbert based his talk on the theme that many people want to do their part as a citizen of the United States in the trying times which are facing them, but the question arises in each person's mind, "What can I do?" It is difficult, Dr Humbert explained, for hands to find a handle.

The speaker congratulated the city of Marion on its successful campaign for a new Y.M.C.A. and also the school bond issue which just passed, in that the people are making the city of Marion the kind of city in which you want to live

Three "handles" which are necessary for business and professional men of today, Dr. Humbert says, are willingness to comprehend, availability for action which includes willingness to work and taking on responsibility, and the final "handle" which is courage to continue in whatever faces you. These three "handles," Dr. Humbert maintains, will help the business and professional men in the rugged future which faces them.

Dr. Humbert is a past president of the Toledo Kiwanis Club and a past lieutenant governor of the 11th Division of Kiwanis. He is presently serving as president of the Lakeside Association, and will be a delegate to an Oxford conference this summer. Dr. Humbert is on the board of directors of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, and has been awarded the distinguished service award of the Junior C. of C. of Akron.

The speaker was introduced by Lester L. Dickey, Marion city school superintendent.

In observance of National Music Week, several songs were presented on the program by Miss Dorothy Gail Stephenson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gerald Jennings

Guests of the club were Richard McAninch, a Kiwanian of Belford, O., Ernest Pavey of New York City, Cecil Gabler, principal of Harding High School, Dr. V. E. Buster, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church and Terry Fralich, son of Kiwanian Harold Fralich.

Japanese merchant marine ships are now authorized to enter the ports of 39 countries.

Your Good Health

Vitamin C Deficiency Is Serious

Though we do not know the exact ways in which vitamin C accomplishes its beneficial effects, we have known for many years the appalling consequences of getting along without it. It is not only important in the normal diet, but of great value in the restricted diets often necessary during illness.

So far as is known at the present time, the most important action of vitamin C is in the formation and maintenance of the material which holds the cells in the body's tissues together. In addition, it is thought that vitamin C has a protective action and also carries a substance known as hydrogen in certain chemical processes that go on in the body.

In young animals who lack vitamin C, strong bone formation is prevented because of the lack of the intercellular materials which occurs when vitamin C is deficient in the body. This also brings about such symptoms as looseness of the teeth, sponginess of the gums, tenderness and swelling of the joints, bleeding into the tissues, and general weakness. A lack of vitamin C may be the underlying cause of bleeding anywhere in the body, as well as changes in the teeth and gum structure, bone changes, enlargement of the heart, weakness of the muscles, and anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood due to hemorrhage. Recent studies have shown that many persons are living on diets which are deficient in vitamin C. Everyone should make sure that he gets a liberal intake of this vitamin each day for it is good health insurance.

Among the foods richest in vitamin C are citrus frutis, tomatoes, raw cabbage, pineapple, and bananas.

Questions and Answers

S G.: Could germs from the intestinal tract, I believe called trichomonas, get into the vagina causing an infection?

Answer: The trichomonas is sometimes found in the intestinal tract. However, it is more often found in the female reproductive organs and usually gets into the intestinal tract secondarily, spread being from the vagina to the intestinal tract.

79 Seniors To Graduate At Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, May 11—The Galion Board of Education Wednesday approved a list of 79 seniors for graduation this year. Commencement exercises will be held May 31.

The class is one of the smallest to graduate from Galion High School in a number of years. There were 114 members in the 1950 class. It is believed that the small number is due to many young people entering industry and military service before completing their high school course.

Resignations of three teachers were accepted by the board. L. H. Boggs, commercial teacher at Senior High School, is resigning to accept a position in the South Euclid Schools with a raise of $550 and salary schedule that has a maximum of $5,000 a year. Mrs. Robert Manning is resigning as kindergarten teacher at the East school. She is moving with her husband and children to Florida and Miss Thelma Fisher is resigning as second grade teacher at the North school because she is getting married and will move out of Galion.

Harold Stinehelfer presided and the following officers were elected: president, Harold Stinehelfer; vice presidents, Richard Spiece and Donald Shefley; secretaries, Donna Lowmiller and Donna Sutton, and treasurer, Evelyn Foos. Special music was furnished by Marvin Fogt who sang, with Jane Metz at the piano, and Keith Messmore who played accordion numbers.

At the supper hour Rev. Ivan Immel was toastmaster. Recreation was in charge of Mrs. R. R. Elliker.

The evening session was presided over by the vice president, Clyde Mowry. Others taking part were Eldeen Walters, Sandra and Beverly Fadely, Joan Stark and Larry Christman. Officers were installed by Rev. Elliker. Sermonettes were given by LeVeta Cook and Mrs. Clyde Mowry and solos were sung by J. Elwood Christman and Mrs. Mowry.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Rev. Evan R. Owens, pastor of Prospect Street Methodist Church here, was one of four Methodist ministers of the Lima District who attended a two-day counciling conference for the Ohio area held early this week at Magnetic Springs, O. Discussions on "Needs of Today's Marriages," "Pre-Marital Counciling," "Religiously Mixed Marriages" "Marriage Problems" and "Problems of Divorce" were led by Dr Clifford R. DONALD S. DAWSON marked that Dawson, as the President's adviser, would seem to many persons and to the public to have "a power that is unequalled" over government officials.

Dawson

Felt Obligation

Fulbright contended that former RFC directors William E. Willett and Walter L. Dunham, who were reappointed to their jobs by President Truman against the subcommittee's desires, must have felt they owed their jobs to Dawson.

The subcommittee, which is headed by Fulbright, had named both former directors as men upon whom Dawson wielded considerable influence.

"I have not asked that anything be done improperly, and it has not been testified that I have" Dawson told Fulbright sharply. He challenged the senator to get more specific.

Fulbright said he could do it. He mentioned Dawson's acknowledged close friendship with E. Merl Young, whom the subcommittee has named as a key figure in the alleged influence ring.

"Mr. Young did not impress the committee as a man of great intellectual powers," Fulbright said. He asked how, without Dawson's support, Young could have wound up on the payrolls of two RFC borrowers at the same time.

Young, husband of a former White House stenographer, has testified he drew an $18,000-a-year salary from the Lustron Corp. of Columbus, O., while also getting $10,000 a year from the F. L. Jacobs Co. of Detroit. Both firms owed money to the RFC.

The senator harked back to other profitable ventures of various members of the alleged clique and Young's share in them. He told Dawson that "there is no other explanation of Mr. Young's influence" than the friendship of the two men.

Of the reappointment of Willett and Dunham to the RFC board, in 1950, Fulbright said: "The subcommittee could not help but ascribe that to you."

Dawson said that on one occasion he had submitted to Mr. Truman the names of an entirely new set of appointees for the RFC after the Senate had refused to confirm Dunham, Willett, W. Elmer Harber, Walter Cosgriff and C. Edward Rowe.

He said the President rejected the alternative set, and renamed the five. He refused to identify the men who didn't get the jobs.

Won't Name Candidates

"It is not the policy of our office to disclose the names of unsuccessful candidates," he said.

It was Dawson's first challenge of the group's power to require him to answer a question.

Fulbright let the question stand unanswered on grounds it was a confidential matter between the President and his personal staff.

Bucyrus Phone Hearings Set

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 11 — Controversy between the city of Bucyrus and the Bucyrus Telephone Co. over alleged poor service and the company's formal request for a rate increase will be given a formal hearing before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in Columbus at 10 a.m. May 22, Mayor Frank P. Sitler has been informed.

The commission will hear the complaints of the city and its council concerning the alleged poor service along with protests against the granting of a rate increase to the company, which is a subsidiary of the Lima Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Mayor Sitler said that a delegation of representative citizens probably will accompany city officials to the hearing to give the commission an opportunity to hear complaints about the service and protests concerning the rate jump from private individuals.

Council, led by Councilman C. Victor Vollrath, has been waging an all-out argument with the telephone company ever since last September, when it filed a formal application with the commission for an increase in rates amounting to about 20 percent.

In a report made by commission engineers last month, the commission indicated it favored a rate increase. The report also pointed out eight service deficiencies in the company's present system. A formal request for a hearing was made by the city after it had received the commission's preliminary report.

Statesmanship by Hindsight

DISTRESSING as the smash of decisions which cannot be called back has been to Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Marshall, they must feel that it had been done a long time ago.

Both are right—and painfully so, according to their answers—that some of the senators' questions at them are political partisans. The two generals have tried to avoid giving answers to many questions framed solely for partisan purposes.

But had one of these questions been asked years ago, while the events concerned were still in the making, they would not have to be asked now, when the books have been closed. Suppose Gen. Marshall, for example, had made an issue of the arrangements completed at Yalta—provided he knew about them. He might have been relieved of his command, as Gen. MacArthur was removed from his command for publicly disagreeing with his Commander-in-Chief. But the American people would have been in his debt for a distinguished service.

Partisanship in foreign policy was suspended during World War II and the postwar interlude. Even today it is not fully restored: there are still some members of Congress who shrink from the give-and-take of political debate on foreign-policy issues.

Open debate has one effect which Americans now are in a condition to appreciate. They do not have to wait until years later to discover what was done in the name of their sovereignty and to learn what was wrong with it from the viewpoint of a loyal opposition.

No Debate in Korea

THERE is no "great debate" in Korea over foreign-policy issues. The Americans and their token allies in that battle-scarred country have no time to spend on talk. They are too busy fighting.

The enemy in Korea is the force which is trying to drive them off the peninsula. They are not dealing with Koreans as people who are entitled to sovereignty. To them, the Koreans are hordes of distressed human beings fleeing ahead of approaching battles and drifting back to the ruins of their homes when the battle is over. They are people who need help from those who can help them. There are no diplomatic hairs to split over the Chinese Reds, their status is that of a determined enemy who must be turned back.

Not enough thought is being given back home to the outcome of a greater issue being settled in Korea than is likely to be settled in any of the capitals of the governments involved in the Korean war. The fighting men in the field are establishing a fact, not trying to establish a policy. The fact they are establishing is their stubborn refusal to give way before a force which ran amuck in Korea last June and is still hopeful of conquering that country.

Perhaps, among others, there should be a few combat soldiers called to Washington to testify in behalf of fighting men in Korea who are not plagued by indecision and misgivings.

Dawson's Job

IF THE Fulbright subcommittee investigating RFC had no aim beyond proving that Donald S. Dawson dealt with appointments to that lending agency, it would be wasting its time.

Dawson is the chief adviser on patronage in President Truman's White House staff. The RFC is one of the important items of patronage. Jobs are sought eagerly by a great many people. Dawson's own job is to make certain that the well-heeled gets the most appreciative applause. That is what patronage is.

The committee is looking for the obvious practices of favoritism and hopes to find a connection between such favors and gifts to the party in power. But the real issue is the use of public funds granted to RFC. It is compiling the record for evidence of undue political influence over the decisions of RFC operators.

Mr. Dawson, as far as is revealed in the opening day's testimony, is going to be that he never went beyond the role of patronage dispenser, though that role in itself will raise eyebrows in some quarters. There is nothing illegal in that, of course. It formerly was performed by the attorney general of the United States. Even President Truman himself, when he was a member of the White House staff,

Pearl Harbor Again

By David Lawrence

Liason Bad Between Home Office, Commanders

WASHINGTON

IT'S JUST another Pearl Harbor investigation all over again.

Back in December 1941, General Marshall and Admiral Stark thought that someone had told General Short and Admiral Kimmel what Washington knew about the forthcoming attack through breaking the Japanese code—but nobody did tell them.

Today, it comes out that the President and the secretary of state and the secretary of defense and special assistant Averell Harriman and General Bradley, who advised that Gen. MacArthur be summarily dismissed, never told him that any of the public statements he had made during the preceding four weeks were violative of military orders or any other orders relating to policy statements.

LAWRENCE

The administration may have thought that General MarArthur, at a distance of 10,000 miles, was a mind reader and as well informed about the state of mind of persons in Washington as were the five men who fired him, but there is not a single bit of evidence in the record after three days of testimony to support that point.

In fact, the official record gets worse and worse for the administration in revealing the same kind of bad liaison in the last few months with Tokyo as the War and Navy Departments had with Pearl Harbor ten years ago.

NOT A SINGLE word of disapproval went to General MacArthur on December 6 last, when a general directive was issued advising all departments and all persons in the field as well as in Washington to clear policy statements with the departments back home. Although General Marshall now testifies that the administration didn't like General MacArthur's answers to the questions of the press prior to December 6—even though they primarily concerned military matters in his theater of action—not a word of such criticism was ever relayed to General MacArthur. He could as easily have inferred that there were no complaints here.

Not a single word of criticism or of any other kind went to General MacArthur specifically referring to his own statements or pointing out any deviation from policy to him between Dec. 6, 1950, when the general directive was issued, and the day he was dismissed—April 11, 1951.

The now famous letter which General MacArthur wrote in routine fashion, answering an inquiry from Representative Joseph Martin, Republican, of Massachusetts, was dated March 20 at Tokyo. Although he had written letters to members of Congress and had talked with them in Tokyo during a period of nearly six years and they had made public the views which the general gave them, not a single word of criticism of his relations with members of Congress had ever been coveyed to him by his superiors in Washington.

WHEN, ON MARCH 24 last, General MacArthur addressed a plea to the Chinese commander to agree to a "cease fire," not a single word of the statement or declaration being planned by the government here—and which it says it was circulating among 13 governments—had been sent to MacArthur for his information. Actually it is reliably reported that he had prepared his communication to the Chinese commander ten days before and was waiting for an opportune moment to release it. Likewise, Trygve Lie, secretary general of the U. N. has since stated publicly that a military commander in the field has the right to address the enemy commander on armistice terms at any time.

The message that was sent to MacArthur saying the State Department was "planning" some kind of a peace offer to the Red Chinese did not give him any details. It was a speculative message and failed to instruct him not to make any communication on this or any other subject related to it. The home-office manager who failed to keep a branch manager better informed than that on company policy would be the one dismissed in American business today.

EVEN WHEN the MacArthur statement to the Chinese commander was published, the Joint Chiefs merely asked him a day afterward to be sure and report if any request for armistice came from the enemy commander. There was not a word of criticism or of approval or disapproval sent General MacArthur concerning that statement to the Red Chinese commander.

Secretary Marshall has testified, moreover, that it was an "accumulation" of things that caused the dismissal, but what it looks like is an accumulation of hostile thoughts pent up somewhere in the Pentagon and the White House which came to a head when General MacArthur answered a letter that Representative Martin, on his own initiative, made public.

Noise Abatement

By TRUMAN TWILL

HERE is an item about a 20-year-old bride who threw out her lover-boy because he snored when he was asleep. Then this snip of a girl had the brass to put the sap on probation—either he learns to sleep without snoring in so many days, or she will go to court and ask for separate maintenance.

This is almost too silly to bear discussion, except that a lot of husbands have to put up with the same nonsense. To hear their mealy-mouthed wives talk, you'd think all the snoring is done by men. Maybe their wives' best friends won't tell them the truth.

Husbands have no monopoly on noises around the house, including snoring. Practically any one of them would rather hear his helpmeet snuffle and choke all night than listen to her grind her teeth, which is one of the more horrible accomplishments of slumbering females.

Groaning is another sound effect calculated to file down the ragged edges of a husband's nerves. This does not imply that groaning is exclusive with women who are married. Their husbands also groan, notably after having their sleep disturbed by the groaning of the lady of the house.

Nor are all terrorizing noises made while the lady is asleep. There is the composure-shattering sound of bottles and jars being rattled at bedtime while she smears on the assorted goops that are supposed to improve her while she is asleep. Also the snick-snick of hair curlers being applied. And even in some cases the thud of reducing exercises being carried on after all respectable people have blanked out.

Nothing herein is to be construed as a slam against any particular lady, who in this case is no noisier than the ordinary run of wedded females. This is only an effort to redress a wrong which has been perpetrated.

Men snore no more offensively than women. With rare exceptions, men cannot even snore in the same offensive league. It simply has been unfashionable to admit that women snore at all—but they do. They will not admit it themselves, and they will not tell on one another.

What they will do on the slightest provocation is to make an issue of it, preferably in court. Here is a taxpayer who would like to be the judge when this happens. Down through the ages, men and women have been patient about things like snoring—men and women who were capable of being patient, that is.

When a 20-year-old bride wants to call off the whole thing over a trifle like snoring, she needs a little education in realism—something like a recording of herself while sleeping.

In 1855 a warehouse, two stories high, was built by Garry Clark at a cost of $1,500 and was situated on the south side of the railroad. It was operated until 1872 when it was moved further west and another story added by Carpenter, Webb and Co. who converted it into an elevator.

Automatic Eavesdropping

By George E. Sokolsky

IT used to be said of the fire-horse than when he heard a gong, he just automatically went to the wagon to be hitched.

Automatics must be studied carefully by child psychologists, perhaps to make humans more like the obsolete fire-horse. A good way to start the training would perhaps be a course in eavesdropping with Miss Vernice Anderson as the teacher, she having scooped the world in doing automatically what parents used to tell children they should not do at all, namely, eavesdrop.

Miss Anderson makes the point that when she stood behind a door and listened to the conversation between General MacArthur and President Truman, she did it automatically. She also took down her stenographic notes automatically. She did not destroy the notes automatically but kept them, typed them and gave them to her boss, Dr. Philip Jessup, of the State Department and the Institute of Pacific Relations automatically.

SOKOLSKY

That is an awful lot of automatic action for a young lady and represents a high degree of aptitude in the field. She was brought on from Washington to Wake Island apparently to serve orange juice and other liquids, the others not being specified in any of the accounts given, but it might be presumed that automatic bourbon was included. However, that is a matter of speculation and not pertinent to automatic responses, which is the subject of this course of study.

I ALSO WOULD include keyhole peeping in this course for the young. There is nothing in the record to show that Miss Anderson has any aptitude for that. She apparently has cultivated her ears rather than her eyes and is able to hear through walls and closed doors. The peep-holers will have to be found elsewhere in the State Department or in Central Intelligence.

Children would gain great knowledge quickly if they could only peep through keyholes, particularly after they had been ordered to bed. It might improve them more effectively than television, which is in the open and therefore evokes no special skills. Automatic peep-holing could be developed into a fine art with prizes given each year by the Freedoms Foundation for those who never fail.

Microphone-placing in flower pots might also help the next generations. They could automatically hear Papa and Mama discussing family affairs, but better still, it would build the ambitions of a young man. He could perhaps write on his application for a job in the State Department that he placed microphones in his sister's boudoir when he was 10 and tapped the telephone wires in the house by the time he was 14. That ought to fit him to be an expert on the Far East, to say nothing of the Middle East and Germany.

These things can, of course, become automatic, or what we used to call, second nature. For instance, it used to be second nature for small boys to peep-hole through the ball park fence. That was second nature, like jumping into a swimming hole or putting a garter snake in a bottle or putting a little girl's hair in the inkwell. Second nature can be something awful if you fail to curb it. Automatics possess an additional quality because it requires training in some such place as the State Department.

AND THAT AUTOMATICALLY leads to some observations concerning Miss Vernice Anderson's boss, Philip Jessup, who is one of the high mucky-mucks in the State Department. He seems to be involved in everything, having come to that department from a professorship of international law at Columbia University and the Institute of Pacific Relations. He has been active in helping the country run its foreign relations, on and off, since 1924, but really did not mature until 1945, since when he has really been a big factor, second only in influence and prestige to Dean Acheson. He goes to all the conferences and makes speeches on great matters. He has never had any Far Eastern experience but purports to be an expert on the subject through his connections with the Institute of Pacific Relations whose files the McCarran committee is now studying. He has generally been identified with those other Far Eastern experts whose predilections brought us to our present dismay.

Curious that the eavesdropping Miss Anderson, whose automatics led her to take down an off-the-cuff, unrecorded conversation between the President and General MacArthur, should be working for Dr. Philip Jessup!

Cotton Confusion

By Raymond Moley

NEW ORLEANS

THE FITFUL, capricious policies of our many-headed government are well illustrated this year in the cotton business. At the moment, resentment is rising among producers of that commodity much like that recently reported in the meat business.

It is an old, twice-told story that restrictions on cotton raising in the early Roosevelt years brought into being a great expansion of cotton raising abroad. That resulted in a long series of complications, the end of which may never be reached.

MOLEY

The events of the past year illustrate the tangled web that is woven when government attempts to take matters out of the hands of a free market.

After the outbreak of the Korean war, the price of raw cotton on the farm started to rise. It was approximately 30 cents a pound in June, 1950, and more than 41 cents in January of this year.

Alarmed at the prospect of a domestic shortage, the government last fall placed a restriction on exports, a cut from 6,000,000 bales last year to 4,000,000 for 1951.

This caused a rise in the price of Brazilian cotton. It rose 30 cents per pound higher than American cotton at one time and now stands at about 20 cents higher. That means that a Brazilian producer gets $100 to $125 more for a bale than does an American.

SECRETARY BRANNAN in the fall also exhorted farmers to plant enough cotton this spring to produce 16,000,000 bales. Domestic consumption will be about 10,600,000 bales.

But no one can estimate how much will be raised by increased acreage. And until reports on planting are published in July, that will remain a mystery.

However, despite the advice and protests of the Department

Congress Quiz

Q—What's the legislative pace of the 82nd Congress?

A—In terms of completed action, it is 10 bills a month or about one every three days. On May 1, after four months, 25 public and 16 private bills had become law, a total of 41. However, 565 measures had received action by either the House or Senate.

The Once Over

The Pfc. on 'Additional Measures'

Somewhere in Korea
May—1951

Dear U.N.:

So you have a "Committee on Additional Measures" which is to vote on the matter of stopping the sale of stuff to Red China with which it is slugging your own fighting men! It is almost a year since U.N. voted the G.I.'s into the Korean war and it is just getting around to the point of playing fair with them. What do you mean "additional measures"? Seeing that no G.I. gets shot by bullets sold to the enemy by his own side should of come under the head of first steps not additional measures, it seems to me. If I send in a dozen cops to slug it out with a gang that has busted into my house but I keep sending in fresh weapons to the mobsters I would look like a heel telling the cops not to worry as I would consider "additional measures" in due time.

PHILLIPS

Everything Red China and Russia can use to make it tougher for us has been getting through to them. General MacArthur testified millions of dollars worth of strategic materials had been delivered in a short three weeks. And British Malaya has been sending through rubber nonstop. Our own allies and fellow members of the U.N. are doing business as usual behind our back which means killing guys under U.N.'s own colors. Is that something for slow-motion action on the East River, bub? If it is, then it would of been okay for Kefauver to sell slot machines to Costello.

Fighting the enemy is plenty tough without feeling I got to keep one eye on my pals in U.N. to see that they don't slip some extra weapons and supplies to the guy taking a bead on me from across the river. It is hard to realize that there are crumb-bums in England and other countries (and even in the United States) who can give three cheers for me one minute and make three fast phone calls for a quick profit with the enemy the next minute. And if U.N. can't work itself up to blitzing that sort of a double-cross it will leave me dizzier than ever. It should not even take no long debate.

What would U.N. say if General Ridgway was selling machine guns to the Chinese commanders? Suppose my sarge found me supplying gasoline to enemy tank drivers. What makes it a matter for so much more patience if British merchants do it with only a yawn from international statesmen? Does the fireman sell oil to firebugs? Does the riot squad rush guns to the rioters? Listen, will you please see the U.N. takes positive action to show that its flag is a symbol for square shooting and not a signal for business as usual?

There are times when I wish my outfit had an Additional Measures Committee and I was chairman so I could just step to one side and take a year or so to decide how I stood in this shindig and should I give it my full support or not and no chiselnig. But there is no time for long debates on additional measures in a shellhole. I got to have my "additional measures" all arranged in advance and I wish you the same and many of them.

Love and kisses,
Your pal,

A Base Libel

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

IT IS THE fractious habit of all Americans who live west of the Hudson to denounce New York City as the Sodom and Gomorrah of the modern world and to paint its citizens as sinful voluptuaries already in hock to Belzebub.

If this canard makes life more tolerable to fellow citizens beyond the Hudson, well and good. But it is base libel without support in fact or principle.

The truth is that New Yorkers are a mousy, inhibited lot who would be scandalized by the regular Saturday night goings-on in any country club west of the Palisades.

Inez Robb

By and large, New Yorkers are industrious, home - loving citizens who are devoted to their children and their television and who don't see the inside of a night club from one year's end to another.

The fiction that they are always drunk and disorderly is just that: a fiction.

I have given a considerable amount of thought to this legend during the last three months as I have tromped up and down, back and forth across these United States. And I have come to the conclusion that New York is an oasis of sober rectitude and high moral purpose in the broad land.

For instance, drinking is a social custom in New York, at least in my mob. But west of the Hudson it seems to be a steady habit. Understand I'm not criticizing: I'm simply pointing out the differences in local customs. Or maybe the sun just reaches the yard-arm more quickly in other communities.

Or possible farsighted persons are hoarding as much liquor as possible before new taxes, as threatened, are imposed on the cup that cheers.

NONETHELESS, I believe a steady diet of double Martinis would make the average New Yorkers stiff as a goat, particularly at high noon. But I encountered communities out thataway where the double Martini is regarded as nothing more than a mid-morning eye-opener.

On one or two occasions I was looked upon as a Nervous Nellie because I was skeptical that a pailful of double Martinis and a swiss-on-rye constituted the best luncheon foundation for an afternoon behind the steering wheel.

The double Manhattan, known in my circle as the kiss of death, is another dietary staple beyond the Hudson. However, it was explained to me that the big-economy-size Manhattan is really a money-saving operation for the drinker.

LIKE THE SINGLE Manhattan, the double-M requires the service of only one cherry, naturally, the vacuum caused by the absence of the second cherry must be filled with life-giving whisky, and the buyer gets a bargain. In hang-overs, too, I presume.

As I say, the double Martini and the double Manhattan may exist in New York, but not in my social circle. Neither does the Boilermaker, a by-product of nuclear fission to which was introduced on my latest trip.

This consisted of a water glass half-filled with Bourbon and served with a bottle of beer. The object was to chase A with B, and live to tell the tale. My hostess, the dean of women in a secondary school, then proceeded to tamp down both with a half glass of brandy. This seemed a stunning tour de force, both gastronomically and educationally.

THESE DOSAGES would fell in rows such New Yorkers as I know. But I have returned home convinced that the American stomach is an all-purpose, lead-lined organ, impervious to such seditious brews as the Banana Cow (half ripe bananas, half rum blended in an electric mixer) and such incandescent mixes as the Cocoanut Grenade, equal parts of coconut milk, gin and Pernod.

On the whole, we New Yorkers are staid sober-sides, cautious and conservative in our drinking, and much maligned in our habits. A resident of the Bowery may take his canned heat straight, but fancy him tempting fate with a Banana Cowt

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

THIS IS to report that fifteen carefully screened and trained American unionists have gone underground in Moscow. And they think it's beautiful. For this they traveled some 20,000 miles — to ride in the Moscow subways. And, of course, to insult their native land.

This special contingent of selected pro-Commie unioneers arrived in Moscow on Apr. 27—passing themselves off as America's "Labor Delegation" to Joseph Stalin's personal May Day rally in Red Square. No one elected them — and the Commies selected them in San Francisco, Detroit, Cleveland and New York.

Victor Riesel

When they debarked at the Moscow airport, after a flight from the U. S. and England, the MVD rolled out the proletariat. The "people" cheered dutifully and rushed in like bobby-soxers to shake hands with the American labor "leaders." Then the Americans were shown the sights—especially the subways.

The trains don't run too frequently and the MVD is overly sensitive about such a minor detail. So that day they sped up the schedule.

All of which obviously excited one of the delegation's leaders, a chap from comiadely circles in Pittsburgh, by name of Alexander Wright, once one of Henry Wallace's C. I. O. lieutenants in a thing called the Progressive Party. Authentic reports from Moscow reveal that right there on the platform he told Red "reporters" that the marble columns in the "peoples" subways were wonderful.

"ONLY THE HOMES of millionaires are as well decorated in the U. S.," he said (Those must have been pre-income tax millionaires you used to visit. Brother Wright.) "Even the Chase National Bank is less sumptuous than the Moscow subway."

But Brother Wright's appreciative powers must have been dulled by all those "Peace Petitions" he read and signed in Pittsburgh August 31, 1950, for the real word came from Mrs. Frances Margaret Johnson of San Francisco. She said that, "People in the U. S. would have difficulty in believing that a subway could be so beautiful." You can tell that this lady has been riding the Market Street trolleys on the way to visit with Harry (the Nose) Bridge's friends.

But don't for one minute think the MVD permitted this crowd to spend its time underground. After showing them the great Red parade on May Day, the Russian propaganda chiefs put these Americans on the air, at the very time when other Red studios were blasting us as inhuman butchers of Asiatics.

THIS AMERICAN labor delegation, some of them from the notoriously pro-Soviet unions, such as the West Coast Marine Cooks and Stewards Union and the United Electrical Workers (U.E), did little to offend their Red hosts. Not even did they defend their own land.

They broadcast on May 3 and 4 over Rado Moscow. They told the world that the only way to live was under "Socialism". They said that the Russians want peace. And that they couldn't conceive that the Soviet wasn't sincere. They visited the Stalin Automobile Plant and its own "palace of culture," and then broadcast silly stuff about the great Russian proletariat. They hit the air with denials of my charges of slave labor camps in Soviet land.

One of them, a vulgar boatman who passes himself off as representative of American seamen, Anselmo Francis, actually shouted into the Russians' mike that his "First visit to the capital of the Soviet Union impresses me of the need for Socialism for the American workers. The demonstration on the square in front of the Kremlin was of great importance to me . . ."

WHO ARE THESE people? We have their names as reported by Moscow itself, let's record them so we'll know them as they return shortly to their native cities.

They are Orin Jenkins of the Marine Cooks; a Mr. & Mrs. Johnson of San Francisco; Lola Dennis of the Cleveland U.E.; a John Francis Halloran, AFL member; a William Glenn, who said he speaks for some C. I. O. Auto Workers in Michigan; an Esther Goldberg, Clara Samuelson, Carrie Ellis, Lloyd Dennis, Moses Weyler, and Evelyn Francis.

Why were they selected?

Who paid their fare to Moscow? Who handed them other expenses on what would ordinarily be a $5,000 trip, or the equivalent of any worker's income for more than a year?

Who were the intermediaries between them and the Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions, which officially invited them to Moscow?

And knowing all this, why did our State Dept issue passports permitting them to travel in that part of the world so they could be photographed (as they were) by Moscow newsreel cameras and recorded by Moscow radio stations so workers of the world would be deceived into believing that American labor was part of the Red May Day?

Let's get answers to these questions! Soon!

Y Men's Club Hears Talk By Dr. Geddis

Dr. Malcolm Geddis, psychologist at the Ohio Penitentiary, was guest speaker last night at a meeting of the Marion Y Men's Club.

He spoke on the methods of rehabilitation used at the penitentiary and on the setup of the psychological division of the medical staff. He also gave a brief history of the penal institute. A question and answer period followed his address.

Further plans were made for the club's White Elephant auction sale to be held next Friday at the poultry building at the Marion County Fairgrounds. Officers of the club urged all members to contact friends and relatives in an effort to obtain more articles to be sold at the auction. Persons having items to donate have been asked to call the Red Cab Company for free pick up service. Arrangements have been made with the city police department for the club to use a sound truck on the city streets to inform residents of the sale.

During the business meeting, the club approved a $10 donation to the Marion County cancer fund. Robert Kraner presided in the absence of Jack Boyd, club president. Guests were James McClaskey of the Probst Supply Co., Willam Roberts of Marion Industries Divisions, Jack Taft of the Fulfillment Corporation of America and John Roberts of West Virginia.

Two films, "Hunting in Alaska" and "Fishing in Alaska," will be shown at next week's meeting.

Famed Artists Paint Their Mothers

Marion Garden Center Notes

VINCA PERIWINKLE

Erect or trailing herb shrub, belong to the Dogbane family. The best known species—and also one of the most useful of garden plants—is Vinca minor (Running Myrtle). This is a native of Europe but it has run wild in many parts of the country. It is very hardy, thrives under shaded conditions, and is one of the best plants to grow beneath trees and other places where a carpeting effect is desired. It has shining evergreen leaves and attractive violet-blue flowers in the spring.

There are several varieties, including white rosy-purple and double-flowered forms, also some with variegated leaves. The variegated form which is usually grown, is much used for window boxes. Propagation is by cuttings and division.

Seeds should be sown early in the year in a warm greenhouse and transplanted several times before being set outdoors.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, May 11—(UP)—Stocks declined further at a moderately active opening today.

A majority added small losses to a series of declines of the previous session. The selling was induced by the impact of taxes on some of the big corporations, notably General Motors, market men said.

Initial volume held to small amounts in most sales. There were a few large stocks, most of them in low-priced issues. An exception, Chrysler, had a block of 1,000 shares at 77¾ off ¼. General Motors slipped a similar amount on 3,000 shares.

Small declines were registered in such issues as American Telephone, Du Pont, Anaconda, Phillips Petroleum, Woolworth, Lockheed, Union Carbide, International Harvester and U. S. Rubber.

Warner Brothers opened 5,000 shares at 12⅛ off 1 following announcement by Harry M. Warner that he and his brothers have decided to retain their controlling interest in the company.

of Agriculture, the Economic Stabilization Agency has slapped a ceiling on cotton prices. And to make the confusion still greater, there is now a threat of rollbacks.

While the effect of this on the farmer is serious, it is producing even greater trouble in the complex and delicate system of financing and distributing cotton. Millions of dollars have been advanced on the assumption of a stable ceiling price for cotton. Contracts have been made for the delivery of cotton at the ceiling price—cotton that has not yet been grown. Chaos would result from any rollback that failed to take these loans and forward delivery contracts into account.

E. F. CREEKMORE, president of the Cotton Exchange here in New Orleans, says: "Rollbacks constitute the greatest possible danger to cotton merchants. There are disturbing elements in President Truman's message; however, it is inconceivable that he would consider an action that could undermine the entire agricultural economy."

"All this shows how difficult it is for any government to fix prices and guarantee incomes. But this difficulty is infinitely greater when one arm of the government is unable to coordinate its efforts with another. There will be plenty of uproar in Congress before cotton-picking time.

Dairy farmers in many parts of the United States are now milking their cows in open barn rooms which are called "milking parlors."
